INFORMATION

The Nippon Budokan, often shortened to simply Budokan, is an indoor arena in central Tokyo, Japan. This is the location where many "Live at the Budokan" albums were recorded, including those of The Beatles, Bob Dylan, Cheap Trick and Ozzy Osbourne. The Nippon Budokan, however, was originally built for the judo competition in the 1964 Summer Olympics, hence its name, rendered in English as Martial Arts Hall.

Location: 2-3 Kitanomarukōen, Chiyoda, Tokyo 102-8321, Japan
